

Eton Travel announces integrated SNCF online bookings now available through Concur Cliqbook Travel for Corporates located outside France

Leading travel management company is first to offer full SNCF content integration to users of Concur's on-demand travel booking and expense management services

Eton, England (March 2009) - Eton Travel, one of the UK's top independent travel management companies (TMC) announced today that it has successfully implemented full SNCF French Rail booking capability through Concur® Cliqbook Travel, the online corporate travel booking tool from Concur, the world's leading provider of on-demand Employee Spend Management services.

Crucially this service is now available to Corporates located outside France and will offer many benefits including:

- Full train and air integrated availability
- Full range of SNCF Flexible fares and Corporate discount fares available
- Ability to integrate train spend into Concur Expense

Whilst other corporate booking tools may offer SNCF functionality this development adds additional value for users:

- Concur Cliqbook Travel users
Existing users benefit from the streamlined booking process and reduced transaction fees for booking online. Fulfillment does not have to be done through an office located in France.
- Concur® Expense users
By integrating with Concur Cliqbook Travel, clients can now get full T&E integration to include SNCF transactions.
- New users
Corporates looking at self booking tool options have a real alternative that can satisfy cost saving demands, full expense management and assist with CSR policy requirements.

Ken Thompson, Managing Director of Eton Travel said, 'This is an exciting time for Eton Travel and this development represents a major step in our continued expansion into the pan European travel management sector'.
